JAMES MULLINGER

James Mullinger burst onto the UK comedy scene in 2005 when he reached the finals of Jimmy Carr's Comedy Idol, after just six months performing stand up.

His performance in the final alongside Carr at The Comedy Store was filmed for Carr's bestselling live DVD. In the subsequent 18 months he reached the finals of two other national new act competitions, appeared on a UK TV panel show and set up his own comedy club working with comedians such as Stephen Merchant, Michael McIntyre, Stewart Lee, Darrin Rose and Sugar Sammy.

In 2009 he toured his first solo stand up show 'The Bad Boy Of Feminism' to rave reviews and sold out theatres and arts centres all over the UK before culminating in a sold out run at London's prestigious Soho Theatre receiving rave reviews in the process. Every year since he has toured a brand new show prompting London's Evening Standard to call him "something of a sensation" and The Skinny to insist that he is "one of the best acts in the country"

In 2012, Mullinger hosted the world's first funny film review show 'Movie Kingdom' on TV channel DMAX which saw him riffing with Judd Apatow, Margaret Cho, Simon Pegg, Robin Williams and his all time hero Jerry Seinfeld. He also conducted hilarious interviews with A-list Hollywood stars such as Daniel Craig, George Clooney, Tom Cruise, Robert Downey Jnr, Cameron Diaz and many more. The aim was always to make them laugh and he rarely failed. But when he did (most famously with a miserable Anne Hathaway), it was even funnier! The show was Pick Of The Week in The Guardian and The Mail On Sunday. It later became a web series on Comedy Central UK.

As well as playing almost every club and doing hundreds of corporates and charity gigs in the UK, he has performed in Canada, America and Australia. He has also worked as a Comedy Editor for GQ magazine writing jokes and conceiving, writing, producing and directing high concept photo shoots and short films with the likes of Paul Rudd, Chris Rock, Ricky Gervais and Julia Louis Dreyfus.

In 2013 he improvised a set on Paul Provenza's Set List at the Just For Laughs festival in Montreal. The producer of Set List, the legendary Babs Romer stated that his set was: "F**king brilliant. And I don't use that description lightly. He didn't just do well, he destroyed."

In 2013 he also appeared in three big screen movies – Crypt 3D, Assassin and Vendetta.

Thought-provoking
and compelling."

INTERNATIONAL Life

"A dashing comic."

NATIONAL POST

"Being a favourite of Jimmy Carr and Michael McIntyre might crush lesser acts than James Mullinger: the weight of praise hanging over their heads like the sword of Damocles, ready to drop when they fail to live up to the fuss. You need only go and see James Mullinger perform his own brand of stand-up and begin to believe the hype: with boundless energy and a startling sense of self degradation, Mullinger is fast establishing himself as one of the best acts in the country."

£7.50 A man who has no shame about what he does or has done, taking to the stage to entertain, and perhaps shock, with his misdemeanours and truthful approach to stand-up, life on the stage, and existence in general. Well-Greased man of comedy comes to town

What did you do last weekend? I went to three car boot sales, a Comic Mart, to see Disney Planes at the cinema with my son and performed three stand-up gigs.

What was your last fashion purchase? A t-shirt from Uniqlo.

What's your weakness? Alcohol. Cigarettes. Chocolate. eBay. Car boot sales. Salad cream. Sometimes all at once.

What's your best culinary creation? I make damn fine sandwiches. Chicken mayo. Carcumber. Then cut into heart shapes.

What would your three desert island discs be and why? The Grease 2 soundtrack because I love it and it always puts me in a good mood. The Best of Patsy Cline because there's nothing like a good country album.

What's your daily routine? Up at 5am to play 'The Grease 2' on the radio. Then I go to work. Then I go to the gym. Then I go to the office. Then I go to the office. Then I go to the office. Then I go to the office.

James Mullinger plays at the Birmingham Comedy Festival when he only sleeps two hours a night and lives unhealthily. It disgusts everything! What are you reading? I'd like to say something by Jonathan Franzen or Alan Hollinghurst. But right now, it's Thomas the Tank Engine. All of them. All the time. Even though they are all the same. Lie in or early morning hike? Early morning hike but not by choice. The best place you've visited, and the place you'll most like to visit? Birmingham is the best place, of course. I'd like to go to Amsterdam.

James Mullinger performing at the Birmingham Comedy Festival on October 4th. To not die when I perform at the Birmingham Comedy Festival is a subtle enough wish. Which dream car do you like to drive? The one I just had. Which car from the Ladies' car from Grady's? I like the one you're in. How do you feel today? I'll be honest.

Stand-up star back home
WARNING: A home-grown comedy star is preparing to take on the stage in London for the first time. James Mullinger will round off his comedy show, The Bad Boy Of Comedy, at the Solo Theatre on the 25th.

The 31-year-old grew up in the town of Alwyn and worked in Alwyn and Nursery School and also worked in Whitby for four years. He left it all behind in 2006 to follow his dream, but said he still comes back whenever he can to visit his family.

James' big break came when he reached the finals of three comedy competitions. They were Jimmy Carr's performance alongside Cez, at the Comedy Store that appears on his DVD 'Stand Up: You Must Be in the Agency Comedy Festival' and the Embassy Comedy and Stand Up Stars at the Edinburgh Festival.

He has toured across the UK and across North America and Australia.

WHAT THE BOOKERS AND PROMOTERS SAY ABOUT JAMES MULLINGER

“James Mullinger is one of the most amiable and adaptable club comics working in the UK. Having put him into some difficult gigs he never fails to impress, whether it's a corporate for 150 drunk insurance salesmen or warming up for a big name headliner, Mullinger always storms it.

The fact that he's also one of the kindest and most generous people in the industry is an added bonus. Always keen to do well he never 'autopilots' on a show, you never get less than 100%.”

Alex Jarrett, booker and promoter of a chain of comedy clubs across the UK Midlands including Cold Comedy, Milton Keynes & It's Comedy, Northampton
www.its-comedy.co.uk/

“James is a highly reliable and affable act who always goes down well at The Glee. He has an infectious, high energy on-stage presence with well-written and very funny material. He's also a pleasure to deal with off-stage - consistently polite and professional. James would make an excellent addition to any bill.”

Alex Jackson, booker for The Glee Club chain
The UK's most respected comedy club chain
www.glee.co.uk

“This guy performed at our work do on Monday and he was hilarious! had all 140 of us in stitches the whole way through. he did his homework on what we did as a job and made the evening very personal. got us all involved and on stage and hes now one of my top comedians. Really enjoyed him.”

Dean, Talk Talk, Northampton
www.talktalkgroup.com

“I work as a comedy club promoter and comedian I have greatly enjoyed the opportunity of working with James Mullinger on the UK comedy circuit over the past 7 years. I would highly recommend James as both an act and emcee.

I am the promoter of two well established London comedy clubs and I regularly book James for both gigs and he has always proved to be a very funny, highly dependable and professional comedian. He has a high energy set and an instantly likeable persona which always lifts a room. His comedy is both accessible and yet intelligent.”

Gary Colman, CEO of Electric Mouse Comedy
www.garycolman.com

“James is a great performer, funny and engaging he takes the audience on a journey with every set. His full-length festival shows are also an absolute delight.

Not only that he's always on time, never overruns and is as amiable offstage as much as he is on.

He's great with small and large audiences alike and the fact that he is a huge comedy fan means he gets better each time I see him, and he admires other comedians work which is inspiring to see.”

Ellie Quinn, booker for Outside The Box comedy clubs
www.outsidetheboxcomedy.co.uk

“James has performed at the festival several and has been well received and popular part of the program on each occasion. I've booked James for several gigs outside the festival and found that he is always great to work with and popular with audiences.”

Chris Foote, Manager, Dave's Leicester Comedy Festival
www.comedy-festival.co.uk

“James compered a charity gig for me on Tuesday night and did a fantastic job. It was a very mixed crowd and kicked off early in the evening so he had a hard job warming them up but had them eating out of his hand in no time. The evening was a huge success - largely down to him and the way he kept everything running smoothly and everyone so brilliantly entertained. Oh yes, and did I mention he's very funny too? Wouldn't hesitate to recommend him and to use him again.”

Tanya Goodin, CEO, Tamar charity
www.tanyagoodin.com

“I highly recommend working with James. He has been a pleasure to work with. He has organised, compered and performed at 5 Stand up for Women shows raising money for Eaves Charity. His stand up is very funny and high energy, he always lifts the room. He is highly reliable, polite and enthusiastic to work with. He has brought in big names like Michael McIntyre, Robin Ince and Issy Suttie and many others. Every Stand up for Women for is a great success due to him, often packing out the Bloomsbury Theatre. We can't recommend or thank him enough.”

JAMES MULLINGER

PROFILE

James Mullinger burst onto the UK comedy scene in 2005 when he reached the finals of Jimmy Carr's Comedy Idol, after just six months on the stand up circuit. His performance in the final alongside Carr at The Comedy Store was filmed for Carr's live DVD. In the subsequent 18 months he reached the finals of two other national new act competitions, appeared on a UK TV panel show and set up his own comedy club working with comedians such as Michael McIntyre, Adam Bloom, Stephen Merchant, Darrin Rose and Sugar Sammy.

In 2009 he toured his first solo stand up show to rave reviews and sold out theatres all over the UK. Every year since he has toured a brand new show prompting London's Evening Standard to call him "something of a sensation" and The Skinny to rave that he is "one of the best acts in the country"

In 2012, Mullinger hosted the world's first funny film review show Movie Kingdom which saw him on screen with Judd Apatow, Robin Williams, Jerry Seinfeld, Daniel Craig, George Clooney, Tom Cruise and many more. As well as playing almost every comedy club and doing hundreds of corporates and charity gigs in the UK, he has also performed in Canada, America and Australia.
